

States of Consciousness

What are you thinking?

What is your perspective?

What is your motive?

What conceptual framework are you using at this moment?

What is in your mind?

These constitute your state of consciousness or awareness.

At any moment you can be acting from the perspective of the raindrop (small self) or the ocean (Christ self). In other words, you can look at the world, yourself and others around you from the perspective of the limited, small construct of your individual ego, or from a larger viewpoint. At any time, your perspective can expand from individual ego → family → friends → locale → nation → planet → universe → God.

The purpose of your life is to move from the small, limited, ego-filled, sin-state of human consciousness ('raindrop' consciousness)

to the large, limitless, egoless, loving, bliss-state of God (Christ) consciousness ('Ocean' consciousness)

In church (home, school, college, life experience) did you learn that your primary purpose in life is to move out of your small, limited, ego-filled sin-state of human consciousness to the large, limitless, egoless, loving, bliss-state of God consciousness? No?

Even though 100% of the world's religions are about taking humanity from the ego-state to egoless God consciousness... humans are not taught that God consciousness is our destiny! We are here on Earth to learn, think, know and have the awareness of God!

The fundamental problems we must face are:

1. The society around us does not believe (or acknowledge) that God consciousness is possible.
2. The primary forces of society, from government to education to commerce to the church, all operate from raindrop (ego) consciousness.

3. Since people cannot achieve what they cannot conceive, because of our current social order it is nearly impossible to realize that Ocean (God) consciousness exists at all.

Thus, the overwhelming majority of individual raindrops have no way to know the Ocean even exists. We cannot know that the Ocean is our real home, origin, and essential self. Most of us have no clue that we are the Ocean in embryo, and as a result, we don't look for or cannot find programs, movements, or even individual guides to teach, train, and assist in returning to the Ocean...

...and that is why The Calling is here.

Fair Warning

This is serious. You really must be warned, because once you get it, once you have glimpsed even the tiniest hint of the vastness, glory and eternity of the Ocean, once you've realized the slimmest glimmer of the truth that you are, indeed, the Ocean in miniature, you will never again be able to live, move, or function as a typical raindrop. You will be a stranger in a strange land, disenfranchised from the structures of the social order around you.

If you are very fortunate, you will have someone in your life that understands. For most of us, God consciousness is a lonely state. Ocean-conscious raindrops are the rarest treasures on Earth. You will see all the politicians, sports figures and so-called religious leaders for who they are: sad, fallen, hollow shells of their true potential.

Your outer appearance won't change (except for the smile of inner bliss) and the outside world will still see a raindrop. But your inner world will be much different: you will recognize that you are what you have always been, the birth-less, deathless infinite Ocean. As compensation, you will know the truth: In Him, you live and move and have your being (Acts 17:28, paraphrased). You will breathe the scent of the Ocean, and feel the waves and tides flowing through you.

And you will never go back.
